Circular No. 35 of the Biological Survey has been issued under the supervision of Dr. T. S. Palmer, Assistant Chief, and is entitled "Directory of State Officials and Organizations concerned with the Protection of Birds and Game, 1902." As the title implies it furnishes a complete list of all state officials and state organizations interested in game or bird protection, besides a list of the Audubon societies. The directory has been brought down to date and should be in the hands of those who are interested in the great protection movement.

The Delaware Valley Ornithological Club of Philadelphia presents its Proceedings for 1901 in the form of a royal octavo publication, handsomely printed, and entitled Cassinia, "An Annual Devoted to the Ornithology of Pennsylvania and New Jersey". Cassinia is a continuation of the Club's previous and less sumptuous "Abstract of Proceedings," while its increased size permits the publication of a greater volume of material. The initial number presents an excellent half-tone plate of John Cassin as frontispiece and its sixty pages are replete with interesting papers read before the Club.

Oologists will be interested to learn that the major part of the Jean Bell collection, recently purchased by Mr. John Lewis Childs, has been sold to Mr. C. W. Crandall of Woodside, N. Y. We are informed that Mr. Childs preserves but two typical sets of each species, and after filling any existing gaps from the Bell collection, it was sold as above stated. Mr. Crandall informs us that his cabinets now hold not less than 50,000 eggs, among which may be mentioned white-tailed kite; 42 sets; prairie falcon; 21 sets, golden eagle, 38 sets; California vulture, 3 sets; duck hawk, 24 sets; sharp-shinned hawk, 112 sets etc.
